Summary statement

The British Council inspected and accredited Loxdale English Centre in January 2020. The Accreditation Scheme assesses the standards of management, resources and premises, teaching, welfare, and safeguarding under 18s and accredits organisations which meet the overall standard in each area inspected (see www.britishcouncil.org/education/accreditation for details).

This private language school offers courses in general English for adults (18+) and young people (16+) and for closed groups of under 18s and individual under 18s (11+), and vacation courses for under 18s (8+) in school premises.

The inspection report stated that the organisation met the standards of the Scheme.

Introduction

Loxdale English Centre was established in 1978 by The Swedish Folk High School (TSFHS), which was established in Brighton in 1968. TSFHS is an educational charity supported by the Swedish government and has a parent school in Sweden. The charity provides educational opportunities for adults and young people (16+) who have missed out on earlier education. Financial support is provided by the Swedish government to cover course fees, accommodation and travel costs. Loxdale English Centre is the only Swedish Folk High School in the UK.

These Swedish students attend the school between September and June, enrolling for between 12 and 20 weeks. They follow general English courses and can also participate in English Plus courses in a wide range of subjects including digital media, nutrition, yoga and philosophy, and British history. Only the English language components of these courses are eligible for accreditation. These courses are also offered to international students on an open enrolment basis, although the majority of students are from Sweden.

The school also offers open enrolment English courses for 6 weeks in January and February for students aged 12 to 17 years and vacation courses from June to August for students aged 8 to 17 years. Closed group courses for juniors are offered at other times of the year.

A separate accredited school in Brighton rents the main building each summer, running adult vacation courses. Adults students enrolled at Loxdale who wish to continue their studies in the summer are transferred to this programme. Loxdale offers family courses during January, July and August. In July and August, the 8 to 17 year-olds are taught by Loxdale and parents follow the adult vacation course run on the same site by the partner organisation. Breaks and lunchtimes are staggered to ensure that contact between adult and junior students is kept to a minimum. The junior students are taught in separate buildings.

At the time of the inspection, courses for adults and young people (16+) were running, as well as courses for closed groups of juniors. The lessons for juniors were in a separate building and had different lesson times.

The inspection lasted two days with two inspectors. Meetings were held with the principal, the director of studies (DoS), the accommodation officer, the administration and transport officer, the booking officer, the social manager, the marketing manager and the caretaker. Focus group meetings were held with teachers, students on 16+ courses, junior students, student council representatives, group leaders and activity leaders. One inspector visited three homestays. All nine teachers timetabled during the inspection were observed.

Address of main site/head office

Loxhill, Portslade, Brighton BN41 2LA

Description of sites visited

The school is located in Portslade, a suburb of Brighton, about 25 minutes by public transport from the city centre. It is set in secluded gardens. The main building, a three-storey Victorian house, comprises the reception, eight classrooms, three staffrooms, a student common room, a self-study room, a library, a dining-room and kitchen, and offices. The basement provides storage space and the caretaker's office. Connected by way of a covered walkway is the business centre, a modern building which has three classrooms, a computer suite, and a sports hall with changing rooms (only one was in use at the time of the inspection). The adjoining building, Loxhall, has two classrooms (one is used as a table tennis room in the winter), a music room, a lecture room and a kitchenette/common room for students. There are toilets in all three buildings.

Comments

The school offers general English courses of between 15 and 22.5 hours per week for adults and young people (16+) from January to June and from August to December each year. Students may also choose to follow English Plus courses in specialist subjects such as digital marketing, singing, drama, and photography. The specialist aspects of these courses are not eligible for British Council accreditation. The school also runs young learner courses in January and February for 12 to 17 year-olds and from June to August for pre-teens (eight to 12 year-olds) and teenagers (13 to 17 year-olds), with 15 hours of general English per week and a programme of social activities and excursions. Closed groups of under 18s are accepted outside the summer. Courses in English for mature students aged 40+ years are offered once a year in May. Family courses are also offered in the summer.

Management profile

The principal reports to the board of directors, which meets formally four times a year. At school level, the principal is line manager for the DoS, and all administrative staff. ### Accommodation profile

Outside the summer, all students stay in homestays provided by the school. In the summer, the majority of students stay in homestays but a small number of students aged between eight and 14 stay in a residential centre, where they are supervised by Loxdale staff.

Comments

W23 Provision for leisure opportunities is excellent, with information about and access to a wide range of age-appropriate activities and events. Activities staff often give information and advice in response to students' expressions of interest, but generally try to help students rather than doing everything for them so as to develop independence.

W24 There is always a choice of activities so that students with different interests are catered for. Staff make sure there is only repetition of the most popular activities.

W25 The social manager is helped by a number of activity leaders (ALs), many of whom work with the under 18s. All activities and excursions are carefully prepared. ALs are well briefed and are provided with excursion packs and activity outlines.

W26 There are highly effective systems to ensure the health and safety of students, both on site and off site. Risk assessments are produced by trained staff and are regularly reviewed. Absences or late arrivals are treated in the same way as class absences. ALs have access to all relevant information about students' medical and dietary issues.

Comments

At the time of the inspection, there were 40 under 18s in the school, 17 of whom were 16 and 17, and 23 of whom were under 16. All of these 40 students were staying in homestays, except for one who was staying with his family. There are around 20 closed groups each year, most of them consisting of under 18s and all of them outside the summer. Most under 18s come in groups, though there are always some individual students in the school. In the summer, when anything between 50 and 170 under 18s are in the school, there is a mixture of students in groups and individual students.

S1 The policy includes neither details of named members of staff nor guidance on handling delayed suitability checks. However, this information was added to the policy during the inspection and this is no longer a point to be addressed.

S2 The school takes thorough steps to ensure the policy is known to all adults in contact with under 18s and provides very good training and guidance opportunities. All staff, group leaders and homestay hosts receive a copy of the policy. All staff, most group leaders and some homestay hosts have received advanced training, six members of staff have received specialist training and all homestay hosts receive basic training.

S4 Very strong recruitment procedures include five members of staff having completed safer recruitment training, thorough suitability checks on all potential members of staff, homestay hosts and other adults in the household, and careful checks on group leaders.

S5 All under 18s are very well supervised during scheduled lessons and activities. Group leaders are only responsible for their own students; absences from class and activities are followed up immediately; there is a high ratio of staff to students on all activities and excursions. Leisure programmes are planned to suit the different age groups of under 18s.

S6 There are very clear rules for what students may do outside scheduled lessons and activities, made known to students at induction, and through notices and the student handbook. Staff, group leaders and homestay hosts learn about the rules through handbooks and regular briefings. The school makes random spot check phone calls to homestay hosts every day to check that students have returned home at the correct time.
